Description:

Looking ahead to spring, we need to make a bit of room for this year's cria to be born. So, we have made some tough decisions and are listing some females for sale. Feel free to get in touch if you are looking for something specific as we have a variety of females, both pregnant and empty, that are not listed but are available.

Capital Morva Du (aka Morva) is a yearling black female sired by Anzac Viracocha Black Sabbath, a nationally influential black stud with multiple championship winning progeny including Beck Brow Sunday Best, who is a full sister to Morva. Their dam is EP Cambridge Scarborough, a daughter of the illustrious ATA Cambridge Centurion. Scarborough has been a prolific black breeding female who has produced multiple females that have gone on to win championships and be stud producers.

Conformationally, Morva is a large-framed female who is well proportioned and balanced. She has a straight topline, good substance of bone, good body capacity, and straight legs with very good fibre coverage. She does have a cluster of small white spots on her right thigh. I am confident that these spots are more like a birthmark than the "white spot gene" as this is quite common to see in black alpacas. I have not found white spots anywhere else on her and there are no white fibres in her fleece. Both her sire and dam have excellent colour retention and did not develop any white fibres in their fleece until they were above 13 years of age.

Morva sports a fine and stylish fleece that is soft handling, bright, and has the "ironed in" crimp style that is typical of Sabbath cria. In October I tested my cria and yearlings' fleece, so the fleece sample shown is Morva's second fleece growing in. Please note that her staple length is annualised.

With her wealth of genetics, she would be a great addition to a coloured or black breeding programme. Her full sister has given some fantastic cria, and I'm sure Morva will do the same in due course!

We are happy to offer Morva's buyer a free mating to any of our stud males. This mating does not have to be used for Morva and is transferrable to be used with another female if desired. Milage fees would apply for mobile matings.
