Description:

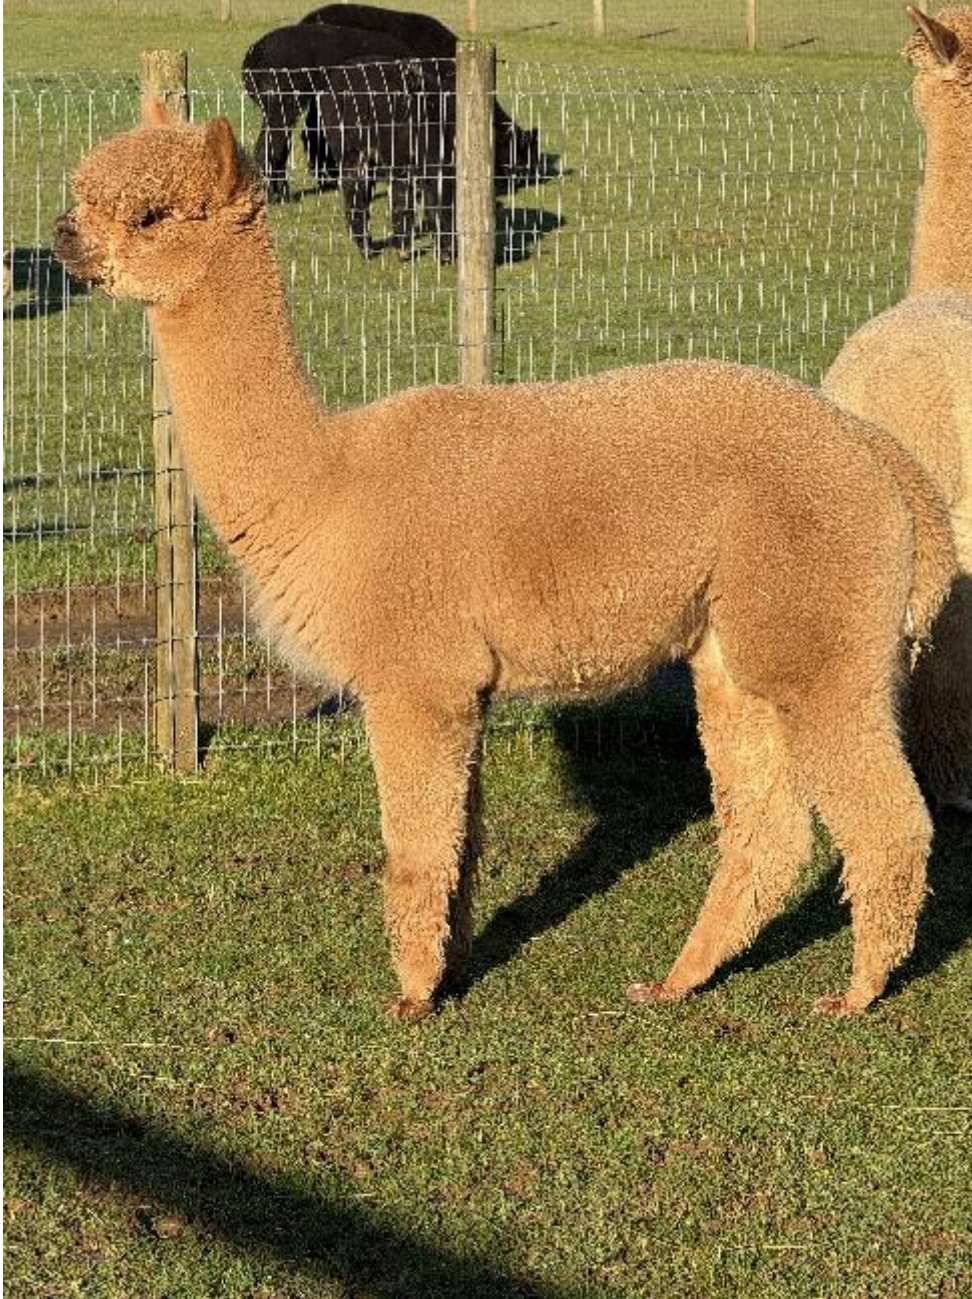

Due to an upcoming property sale and the need to downsize our highly regarded alpaca herd, we are offering Humdinger at a very attractive price.

Humdinger presents a compelling combination of excellent phenotype and a distinguished pedigree, making him a promising stud prospect. This handsome young male showcases a captivating presence with a fine, dense fleece that drapes elegantly over a strong, structurally correct frame. His fleece boasts an impressive SD of 2.9, indicative of remarkable fineness. Furthermore, the fleece exhibits consistent uniformity in colour and is beautifully organised into pencil-like staples, suggesting an advanced fleece architecture.

Humdinger's pedigree is equally impressive. His sire, Redens DiCaprio, has an enviable show record, demonstrating his genetic potential. Adding further prestige, Humdinger's grandsire is the renowned Fowberry Constantine, a legendary figure in the alpaca world. His dam, too, boasts an enviable show record and continues to produce a fine, uniform fleece even in her later years. This impressive dam lineage further solidifies his breeding potential, featuring prominent bloodlines such as EPC Top Account and Jolimont Commisario.

Humdinger's combination of striking phenotype and a distinguished pedigree positions him as a potential important sire for any breeding program. His fleece characteristics and strong genetic background suggest that he is likely to produce high-quality progeny with attractive fineness and desirable conformation. He was sheared as a cria so the staple length from his first fleece is for 9 months growth.
