Description:

A 2022 National Show Grey Champion in Halter and Fleece Malahide is a rare and magnificent sight to behold. He is a completely spot-less light silver grey Suri, with very strong substance of bone, carrying an absolutely stunning dense and lustrous wave and twist fleece. The judge at Yorkshire show described him as having "great stature and a great presence, straight top line and a very true to type Suri. Great lustre, great density and retaining his fineness as an adult with very good re-growth".

His cut fleece weighed just under 8kgs and his skirted fleece weighing in at a whopping 4.2kgs scoring him top points at fleece shows. Covid allowed just one opportunity to attend one show as an Intermediate in full fleece, where he won Champion Grey Suri and was pulled forward twice by the judge Jo Bridge for consideration during the Supreme line up. Malahide went on to win multiple Championships at Halter shows as an Adult and collected a series of Championship wins.

Malahide is throwing 15 micron, superb quality progeny with a 100% record for grey to date. He has sired three classic greys as confirmed by testing at Neogen laboratories, and three modern greys.

More recently his fleece won championship at the Northern 2021 Fleece show scoring a whopping 81.5. At the Cornwall show judge Roger Clarke commented "Beautiful consistently grey fleece".

Genetically positively tested for Classic Grey at Neogen laboratories. Malahide's colour genetic code is EEaa which means his base solid colour is black with the classic grey pattern over-laid. He does NOT carry the genetic code (ee) which blocks the black pigment so will produce colour on all coloured dams and most whites.

In 203 Malahide's progeny won champion grey female Suri at the BAS National Show, and went on to win champion at Heart of England. In addition, his male progeny have won multiple reserve champions
