Description:

Michel Angelo is a handsome, gentle male with strong features which carry well onto his offspring. He is from sound genetics from Inca Alpaca, with an excellent, fine fleece. Michel Angelo has a good frame and is well proportioned, with a good covering of fleece.

His superb genetics carry well into his offspring, where he is currently in his fourth breeding season.

Michel Angelos fleece is very well balanced, which is very fine, with a soft handle. He carries uniformity both across the body and in staple length.

Not only is he well covered in fleece, michel angelo is a long stapled male that has fineness, uniformity and good density to the fleece.

He is a quietly confident male, who is very well mannered, and easy to handle. His wonderful temperament has successfully passed onto his cria, giving us manageable, calm offspring.
