Description:

Inca Paraguay is a well bred and striking fawn male who is now here at Churchfield Alpacas.

Paraguay's frame is well covered and the substance of bone this male exhibits is excellent. He is very balanced in his frame and proportion and has very good presence. His head type and overall stature is highly desirable and that is matched with a very dense and heavy cutting fleece.

His fleece is dense, bright, fine and soft handling. It is uniform in micron across the body and up the neck and down the legs.

With such a depth of proven bloodlines in his pedigree and a desirable phenotype, Inca Paraguay is ideal for those wanting to consolidate their coloured herd and import a depth of colour, fleece density and improve the overall look of their crias.
